2. Our duties concerning Information

- (a) We are not required to comply with the Australian Privacy Principles in the Act; however, we will attempt to ensure that our collection, handling, maintenance, and use of Information follow the principles.
- (b) We have statutory, common law, and professional obligations that dictate how we must deal with Information that comes into our possession, including but not limited to legal professional privilege.

3. How we collect Information and why?

- (a) We collect, handle and maintain Information from you, our clients, suppliers, the Website, and third parties in the course of our business.
- (b) We collect Information in order to comply with any statutory duties, to provide you with some or all of our services, or in the course of offering or marketing legal services to you or our clients.
- (c) We store information in electronic and hard copy and use reasonable technical and organisational precautions to prevent the integrity, loss, misuse or alteration of the Information we collect.

4. Accessing and correcting your Information

- (a) We will provide access to your Information to those persons entitled to such access for the purposes of review or correction.
- (b) Any requests must be made by writing to us at info@fixedcostbylaws.com.au.

5. Disclosure of Information to overseas recipients

- (a) In the event we use any services based or hosted overseas, you acknowledge that we do not have control over where they base or host their services.
- (b) We do not warrant that your Information will not be disclosed to overseas recipients, whether intentionally or not.
- (c) We are not responsible for the privacy policies, if any, of any third party.

6. Variations and complaints about this policy

- (a) We may vary this policy at any time without notice to you. You should regularly review our policy for any changes.
- (b) If you have any complaints about this policy or the way we handle your Information, please write to us at info@strataspecialistlawyers.com.au.
